F. D. SENDS PERSONAL PEACE PLEA TO HITLER, MUSSOLINI

Complete Text of Message on Pages 2 and 5

F. D. ASKS HITLER, DUCE AVERT WAR

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—President Roosevelt has sent a personal peace appeal to Chancellor Hitler and Premier Mussolini, listing 31 countries and asking both dictators to promise not to use force against them for a period of at least 10 years.

The Chief Executive disclosed at an unusual Saturday press conference today that in his message to Hitler and Mussolini he had offered to act as "an intermediary" in communicating any offers for peace by Germany and Italy to other nations.

Complete Text Of F. D. Plea

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—Following is the text of President Roosevelt's peace plea to Hitler and Mussolini.

You realize, I am sure, that throughout the world hundreds of millions of human beings are living today in constant fear of a new war or even a series of wars.

The existence of this fear—and the possibility of such a conflict—is of definite concern to the people of the United States for whom I speak, as it must also be to the peoples of the other nations of the entire western hemisphere. All of them know that any major war, even if it were to be confined to other continents, must bear heavily on them during its continuance and also for generations to come.

Because of the fact that after the acute tension in which the world has been living during the past few weeks there would seem to be at least a momentary relaxation—because no troops are at this moment on the march—this may be an opportune moment for me to send you this message.

On a previous occasion I have addressed you in behalf of the settlement of political, economic, and social problems by peaceful methods and without resort to arms.

SEES THREATS RUINING WORLD

But the tide of events seems to have reverted to the threat of arms. If such threats continue, it seems inevitable that much of the world must become involved in common ruin. All the world, victor nations, vanquished nations and neutral nations will suffer. I refuse to believe that the world is, of necessity, such a prisoner of destiny. On the contrary, it is clear that the leaders of great nations have it in their power to liberate their peoples from the disaster that impends. It is equally clear that in their own minds and in their own hearts the peoples themselves desire that their fears be ended.

It is, however, unfortunately necessary to take cognizance of recent facts.

Three nations in Europe and one in Africa have seen their independent existence terminated. A vast territory in another independent nation of the Far East has been occupied by a neighboring state. Reports, which we trust are not true, insist that further acts of aggression are contemplated against still other independent nations. Plainly the world is moving toward the moment when this situation must end in catastrophe unless a more rational way of guiding events is found.

'THERE NEED BE NO WAR"

You have repeatedly asserted that you and the German people have no desire for war. If this is true there need be no war.

Nothing can persuade the peoples of the earth that any governing power has any right or need to inflict the consequences of war on its own or any other people save in the cause of self-evident home defense.

In making this statement we as Americans speak not through selfishness or fear or weakness. If we speak now it is with the voice of strength and with friendship for mankind. It is still clear to me that international problems can be solved at the council table.

It is therefore no answer to the plea for peaceful discussion for one side to plead that unless they receive assurances beforehand that the verdict will be theirs, they will not lay aside their arms. In conference rooms, as in courts, it is necessary that both sides enter upon the discussion in good faith, assuming that substantial justice will accrue to both; and it is customary and necessary that they leave their arms outside the room where they confer.

I am convinced that the cause of world peace would be

The President asked specifically whether Hitler and Mussolini were willing to give assurance that their armed forces would not attack the now-independent nations.

"Such an assurance clearly must apply not only to the present day," Mr. Roosevelt's message read, "but also to the future sufficiently long to give every opportunity to work by peaceful methods for a more permanent peace.

FOR QUARTER CENTURY

"I therefore suggest that you construe the word 'future' to apply to a minimum period of assured non-aggression—10 years at least—a quarter of a century,

BERLIN, April 15 (AP)—Adolf Hitler was reported today to have rushed from his Berchtesgaden mountain home to Munich on receipt of President Roosevelt's peace appeal and to have summoned his foreign secretary, Joachim von Ribbentrop, to meet him there.

Before Germany will make known its reactions to the Roosevelt appeal, a Wilhelmstrasse spokesman said, we must first confer with our axis partner—Italy.

"If such assurance is given by your government, I will immediately transmit to the government of the nations I have named and I will simultaneously inquire whether, as I am reasonably sure, each of the nations enumerated above will in turn give like assurance for transmission to you."

The President specifically asked Hitler and Mussolini whether they would give assurance that their armed forces would not "attack or invade the territory or possessions of 31 independent nations.

The President said he would act as a "friendly intermediary" in transmitting peace assurances from Hitler and Mussolini to other nations.

He added that if reciprocal assurances for peace are given, then the nations of the world can begin discussions looking toward dis-

HITLER TO GRAB DANZIG APRIL 19, BERLIN REPORTS

BERLIN, April 15 (AP)—The official German news agency, DNB, renewed today publication of dispatches recounting purported anti-German incidents in Polish Silesia, strengthening rumors steps might be taken to absorb Danzig as a present to Chancellor Hitler on his 50th birthday next Thursday.

The plan, according to these rumors, which official quarters denied, is for German troops to march into the free state from East Prussia by Wednesday.

(Officials in the London foreign office said they had heard rumors of a German plan to take Danzig, that any such attempt would be "extremely dangerous," that if Poland "chooses to resist this as a threat to her independence" Britain would be obligated to go to Poland's aid in accordance with Prime Minister Chamberlain's parliamentary declaration of March 31.)

By entering Danzig—German until 1919—from East Prussia troops could avoid touching any Polish territory. Danzig is a free port, has a Nazi-dominated parliament but is in the Polish customs administration.

Foreign observers felt that, despite official assurances that issues with Poland were being settled amicably, publication of the DNB dis-

Mystery in Suicide Of Ft. Devens Soldier

Faithful soldier and devoted family man, Donald W. Elliott, 40, of Fort Devens, who rose to the highest rank possible for an enlisted man and raised two sons, was found dead by hanging in a Y.M.C.A. hotel room in New York City today.

Puzzled by the tragedy, army men at the fort could only say that his 20-year record was spotless, his career one of hard work and faithful application to duty, and his character above reproach.

LEAVES TWO NOTES

Police found near the body a terse note to his superior officer and a tender message of farewell to his wife, Hazel, and sons, George, 17, and Richard, 15.

Mrs. Elliott left their home at the Fort with her two sons to claim the body and return with it to Pella, Iowa, Sergt. Elliott's home town.

The note to his family, addressed to Mrs. Elliott, read:

"Oh darling, I hate to leave but I feel it is for the best. I have sold my birthright for a pot of porridge.

"George and Dick, if you are ever tempted to take an alcoholic drink, think of daddy.

"Hazel, I have loved you so, but yet have been a poor husband and father. Pray for me and my soul.

"Goodbye, my dear. Daddy."

COMRADES PUZZLED

In sharp contrast, the other note, addressed to his superior officer, was written in strict accordance with army regulations. It read:

"My registration of Jack Kearney is an alias. My right name is D. W. Elliott."

Police said he had registered under the assumed name when he arrived in New York to purchase supplies for an army baseball team at the fort.

Questioned about the paradox contained in Sergt. Elliott's record and the statements in the note, Lt. Morris of Fort Devens would only repeat:

"He had reached the grade of master-sergeant through 20 years of hard work. His record speaks for itself."

His army associates were puzzled over his reference to drink.

PINKHAM KIN MUST PAY BACK

It will take a majority vote of the board of directors to change any of the policies of the nationally known Pinkham company, according to a court order today.

The court, in a decision written by Judge Stanley E. Qua, ousted from control of the business, Aroline P. Gove, and her daughter, Lydia Pinkham Gove, ordered them to return $36,000 to the firm in repayment for expenditures they made, and restrained them from "interfering" with the conduct of the business.

The decision made permanent an injunction restraining the two women from in any way interfering with the business, as it is conducted by Arthur W. Pinkham, a grandson of the founder, and president of the firm.

The troubles, according to testimony in several court cases, grew out of efforts of Aroline and her daughter, Lydia, to run the firm, and the efforts of Arthur and his two brothers to oust them.

The first "family squabble," described as just that by Mrs. Gove, broke out in public in 1934 when the woman, now 80, and her daughter fired an $8000-a-year superintendent of the plant and installed a $30-a-week foreman as "boss."

That case went to the Supreme Court, with the women winning a victory in being allowed to retain the foreman, Ralph Weiner.

An agreement, however, was reached between the Gove and Pinkham factions that henceforth no one could be hired or fired without consent of both.

Each faction owns 50 shares of stock in the company. Each side has accused the other of seeking to gain the one share needed to control the company.

Swastika High On Lowell Plant Is Hauled Down

LOWELL, April 15 (AP)—A 12-foot cloth swastika found spread across a side of the Hamilton Manufacturing Company's 245-foot chimney was removed by a steeplejack today—but the mystery of how it got there remained unanswered.

Edward Carey, who climbed up spike steps to take down the emblem, said it had been placed 15 feet from the nearest foothold, in a location extremely difficult to reach.

Early risers discovered the maroon-colored cross on a white background shortly after daybreak. The chimney is near the railroad station.

Investigators suggested collegiate pranksters might be responsible, but fraternity heads denied connection with it in initiation stunts.

U. S. Bars Boston Inventor's Guns

Custom officials in New York refused to classify as "personal property" four semi-automatic rifles, a machine gun and 1800 rounds of ammunition which Melvin M. Johnson, Boston inventor, brought back with him aboard the Aquitania today. Johnson was told he would have to file consular invoices to bring them back into the country.

Johnson, whose new weapons were turned down by U. S. Army authorities, had taken them abroad in an attempt to interest French and British officials.

Diary Reveals 'Summerless' Year in 1816

ITHACA, N. Y., April 15 (AP)—To shivering New Yorkers, awaiting the delayed advent of warm weather, came today this chilling news—in 1816 there wasn't any summer!

A scrapbook-diary kept by the grandmother of Elmer Dillon of Black Rock, now a part of Buffalo, reveals chronologically a summerless 1816.

"Mar. 9—Snow 2½ feet deep."

"April 12—Four inches snow."

"May 20—It froze so hard last night that mud three inches deep will bear a man."

"June 6—Snowed from early morn until 1 p. m., melting as fast as it fell, save on north side of buildings."

"June 28—A little frost."

"July 11—Crops very backward."

"Aug. 24—Frost. Vines and corn in some places ruined."

"Oct. 17—Snow eight inches deep."

Lindbergh, Babs Glad To Be Back

NEW YORK, April 15—Self-exiled from the United States, two of the best-publicized Americans of their generation were back in their homeland today.

Countess Haugwitz Reventlow, the former Barbara Hutton, Woolworth five and ten-cent fortune heiress, came back to show her baby son to her father, Franklyn L. Hutton, industrialist and financier.

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh returned on private business and to testify before a congressional committee investigating civilian and military aviation.

Barbara, once as aloof as a queen, was friendly and co-operative with the news writers.

DIDN'T GIVE UP SON

She particularly wanted one thing cleared up. She did not surrender custody of her little son when she divorced Count Reventlow.

Until he is six years old, she will have custody for nine months a year, the count for three months.

Then each parent will have the boy six months of the year.

Asked whether she would seek to regain her American citizenship, she at first answered:

"I'm afraid I can't say."

Later, however, she amended:

"I might."

Countess Barbara said she re-

THIRD TERM PLANS SEEN IN F.D.R. ADDRESS

Other Critics Claim He Aims for Revolt

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—Senators disputed today as to whether President Roosevelt's latest public utterance indicated he would run for a third term in case a general war breaks out, or some other crisis develops, before the presidential nominating conventions next year.

Standing on the porch of George Washington's home at Mount Vernon, Mr. Roosevelt spoke yesterday afternoon of the first President as a man who sacrificed his own desires by accepting the presidency "in a time of real crisis and deep emergency."

Washington loved the life of a country squire and after his fight for independence must have felt he was entitled to return to it, the President said, but because the permanence of the republic was at stake he continued in public life.

CRITIC'S CRITICISM

These remarks, delivered in commemoration of the 150th anniversary of Washington's notification of his election to the presidency, brought this comment from Senator Holt (D.) of West Virginia, a frequent Administration critic:

"Of course, we have been living in a period of crisis ever since Mr. Roosevelt went into office. There is no doubt in my mind that the President hopes the country shares his opinion that it needs him another four years."

But Senator Schwellenbach (D.) of Washington, an administration supporter, said he had never seen any indication by the President that he wanted to run again.

Senator Ellender (D.) of Louisiana observed the chances of Democratic victory in 1940 depended largely on Roosevelt making the race.

There was disagreement among senators also as to the wisdom of the President's speech to the Pan-American Union yesterday, in which he denounced "dreams of conquest" and expressed the hope that "our sister nations beyond the seas will break the bonds of ideas which constrain them foward perpetual warfare."

NAZI GRAB OF DANZIG ALL SET

patches indicated a new turn in developments.

DNB reported from Gleiwitz that anti-German excesses in eastern Upper Silesia were "increasing in an alarming manner."

Usually there is a purpose behind publication of stories of this kind. Events in Sudetenland and later in Czechoslovakia and Memel were preceded by reports of anti-German excesses in the Reich press.

The Gleiwitz dispatch asserted reports from all parts of eastern Upper Silesia agreed there were "attacks on Germans and their property. Use of the German language or the wearing of white stockings (Polish Nazi uniform) is sufficient to draw insults or injury."

"In the village of Altdorf," DNB said, "three Germans were beaten by Poles with clubs and wire whips and injured considerably because they spoke German."

DENY PROTESTS

Demonstrations were reported especially violent in the Pless region. The organization "Young Poland" was said by DNB to be especially violent in its anti-German manifestations.

Wilhelmstrasse officials denied categorically that any diplomatic representations were being made because of these reports and said, on the contrary, no diplomatic talks of any kind were being conducted between the German and Polish governments.

"There is no diplomatic contact at the moment," one spokesman said.

The Polish ambassador, Joseph Lipski, returned to Berlin from Warsaw yesterday.

On the same day, Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop started "in the general direction of Berchtesgaden," where Hitler now is staying, according to the Wilhelmstrasse.

"WON'T VIOLATE POLAND"

In some diplomatic quarters this was interpreted to mean that von Ribbentrop was none too anxious to see Lipski.

If German troops were to move into Danzig from East Prussia, these sources explained, there would be no violation of Polish territory.

Also Germany, if she took Danzig, would respect Polish rights, these sources added, predicting that at any rate there would be no war about it, and Hitler would have another "bloodless conquest" as a birthday present.

WANTED: U. S. HUBBY FOR BATHTUB BEAUTY

NEW YORK, April 15 (INS)—"It is so very puzzling," Vilma Kurer, bewitching "bathtub-beauty" of the Viennese stage, mourned today.

"Marriage would enable me to stay in the United States, where I want to live the rest of my life, because I love it so much," she said in her soft, Austrian accent. "But I do not want a man to marry me because he pities me, and I do not want to marry a man just for convenience."

Neither does she want a Hollywood role "as a curiosity."

Vilma's problem is that she must become an American citizen within six months through marriage to an American citizen or face possible deportation and punishment by the Nazi regime in greater Germany.

She is not an "Aryan," she explained, and when she was a stage favorite in Vienna and Prague, much of her acting was with the "Little Art Theater," which specialized in jibes at the Nazis.

So today Vilma finds her predicament a bit "puzzling."

Although she played many other roles, Vilma is best remembered by European audiences as the "Girl in the Bathtub" in the Viennese version of "The Women."

Vilma is now in New York after escaping first from Vienna and then from Prague. Meanwhile, as to Austria—

Peril Seen In Goering's Call on Duce

ROME, April 15 (AP)—New anti-French attacks in the Fascist press disturbed European diplomats today as they awaited a speech by Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano for a possible indication of new moves by the totalitarian powers.

While Premier Mussolini and the German air chief, Marshal Hermann Goering, conferred on the European situation, Fascist press spokesmen declared the Rome-Berlin axis would counter London-Paris "encirclement" efforts by pressing for their "just rights."

Count Ciano's address to the Chamber of Fasces and Guilds today was expected to throw some light on Italy's immediate plans.

The Chamber and the Senate met in special session to adopt a law bringing newly-occupied Albania under the crown of Italy. The Cabinet yesterday formally approved King Vittorio Emanuele's acceptance of the crown of Albania.

BULLETIN

LONDON, April 15 (INS)—French authorities are deeply perturbed over persistent reports that fresh Italian troops, numbering between 15,000 and 20,000, were recently landed at Cadiz, Spain, the Daily Telegraph reported from Bordeaux today.

The French are also gravely concerned over indications that modern airdromes are being hastily constructed under German direction in northern Spain within easy striking distance of France, the dispatch said.

GUESTS OF KING

Goering was received in audience by King Emanuele while Mrs. Goering was received by Queen Elena. The King and Queen then entertained the German guests at a state luncheon in the palace.

The Albanian delegation, meanwhile, called on Mussolini to express thanks for the Italian "Good Friday" intervention which took the little Balkan state out of the hands of King Zog and placed it under Fascism.

Mussolini's newspaper, Il Popolo D'Italia, said a royal prince would be named to represent the king in Tirana, thus, apparently, disposing of rumors that the premier's son-in-law, Count Galeazzo Ciano, would be sent as viceroy.

AIRPLANE INSPECTION

A German aeronautical mission was inspecting airplane establishments at Turin and conferring with plant officials.

Some diplomats believed the next move would be made directly against France, from whom Italy is demanding Mediterranean concessions.

The Fascist press reported rumors that France and Britain were planning to move against the international zone of Tangier, on the coast of Morocco.

Considerable prominence was given the announcement that the German fleet would maneuver in Spanish waters for a month, beginning April 18, and visit Tangier.

TROOPS MARCHING ON

Il Giornale d'Italia, terming the rumors concerning Tangier as credible, said Spanish Morocco was being filled with troops, but did not state their nationality.

It was presumed Spanish troops were meant, although there have been unconfirmed reports that Italian troops likewise had left for Morocco.

Roberto Farinacci, a member of the Fascist Grand Council credited with playing an important part in formulation of Italy's recent foreign policy, asserted in a speech at Bari that France "had always been Italy's enemy."

Britain 'Locks' Sea Gates at Gibraltar

LONDON, April 15 (AP)—Defense booms to both entrances into Admirality harbor at Gibraltar were swung into position today as British diplomats pushed efforts to bring Soviet Russia into an aerial alliance to resist further totalitarian aggression.

Putting teeth into defense plans at the stronghold guarding the western inlet to the Mediterranean, British troops also erected additional barricades to guard "The Rock" from any possible invasion by land.

The measures were taken as the concentration of troops and war materials was reported continuing in neighboring ports of Spain—whose victorious Nationalists were aided by Italy and Germany in the civil war.

RUSHES MORE TROOPS

The war office announced the first battalion of the Welsh Guards Regiment would be sent to Gibraltar "on or after April 22" to strengthen the defenses of that key center of British armed might in the Mediterranean.

The announcement coincided with Anglo-French diplomatic consultations said to have arisen from anxiety over reported concentrations of Italian troops in Spanish Morocco and of Spanish troops and war material on the Spanish mainland near Gibraltar.

A large part of the German fleet is to maneuver on a month's cruise in the neighborhood of Gibraltar, beginning Tuesday.

Defense precautions were taken in other parts of the empire.

OTHER COLONY DEFENSES

In Nairobi, Kenya Colony, Governor Air Chief Marshal Sir Robert Brooke-Popham disclosed emergency plans to rush heavy reinforcements to the British East African colony which borders both Ethiopia and Italian Somaliland.

In the Malaya Straits Settlements, the government proposed to give 1,000,000 pounds sterling (approximately $5,000,000) for empire defense, in addition to its annual contribution of 750,000 pounds. Malaya already had given 20,000,000 pounds for imperial defense, including 2,000,000 pounds for the armed outpost at Singapore.

In Hongkong, important naval and military base in the Orient, the government decreed emergency regulations for the arrest and detention of aliens in concentration camps, without trial.

In Capetown the South African government adopted a national service registration scheme to make all men under 45 years of age available for wartime defense.

WANTS RED AIR FLEET

Prime Minister Chamberlain's government was reliably reported to have instructed British Ambassador Sir William Seeds to place before Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Russian commissar for foreign affairs, proposals for securing the speedy inclusion of the Soviet in Britain's grand alliance against aggression.

Informed sources said Sir William would interview Litvinoff today.

The British plan, it was reported, was to have the Red air fleet pledged to protect Poland and Rumania in event of any German attack.

armament and the opening up of trade channels.

Mr. Roosevelt said the United tates would participate in a conference on these two problems. Nations other than the United States, he said, could "undertake such political discussions as they may consider necessary or desirable."

Mr. Roosevelt read to reporters in his oval office the message he sent to Hitler and Mussolini. Secretary Hull sat on one side of the Chief Executive and Chairman Pittman (D.) of Nevada, of the Senate foreign relations committee, on the other.

The Chief Executive's message was dispatched at 9 p. m. (E.S.T.) last night. A copy signed by the President went to Hitler, as Chancellor of Germany, and a copy signed by Hull went to Mussolini, as premier of Italy.

WAR PERILS ALL WORLD

Mr. Roosevelt's communication stressed that there now was a general fear of war throughout the world.

Recalling his message to Hitler urging peace prior to the Munich conference, Mr. Roosevelt wrote that since then "the tide of events seems to have reverted to the threat of arms."

"If such threats continue," the message said, "it seems inevitable that much of the world must become involved in common ruin.

"All the world, victor nations, vanquished nations, and neutral nations will suffer.

"I refuse to believe that the world is, of necessity, such a prisoner of destiny.

"On the contrary, it is clear that the leaders of great nations have it in their power to liberate their peoples from the disaster that impends.

"It is equally clear that in their own minds and in their own hearts the peoples themselves desire that their fears be ended...

"You have repeatedly asserted that you and the German people haveno desire for war.

"If this is true there need be no war."

The identical message to Mussolini referred to the Italian people rather than the German people.

The President's appeal said the United States spoke on the international situation "not through selfishness or fear or weakness."

"If we speak now it is with the voice of strength and with friendship for mankind," it continued.

The President said it still was clear to him "that international problems can be solved at the council table."

Trout Season Opens Today

The trout season opened today under the most unfavorable conditions—cold weather and high and turbulent streams.

The bag limit is 15 trout not under 6 inches. Salmon fishing becomes state-wide tomorrow, although Plymouth and Barnstable already have been open since March 1.

Horned pout and yellow perch are the other fish which may be taken beginning tomorrow. Pickerel fishing begins May 1.

Text of Roosevelt Plea to Dictators greatly advanced if the nations of the world were to obtain a frank statement relating to the present and future policy of governments.

Because the United States, as one of the nations of the western hemisphere, is not involved in the immediate controversies which have arisen in Europe, I trust that you may be willing to make such a statement of policy to me as the head of a nation far removed from Europe in order that I, acting only with the responsibility and obligation of a friendly intermediary, may communicate such declaration to other nations now apprehensive as to the course which the policy of your government may take.

Are you willing to give assurance that your armed forces will not attack or invade the territory or possessions of the following independent nations: Finland, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, The Netherlands, Belgium, Great Britain and Ireland, France, Portugal, Spain, Switzerland, Liechtenstein, Luxemburg, Poland, Hungary, Rumania, Yugoslavia, Russia, Bulgaria, Greece, Turkey, Iraq, the Arabias, Syria, Palestine, Egypt and Iran.

Such an assurance clearly must apply not only to the present day, but also to a future sufficiently long to give every opportunity to work by peaceful methods for a more permanent peace. I therefore suggest that you construe the word "future" to apply to a minimum period of assure non-aggression—ten years at the least—a quarter of a century, if I dare look that far ahead.

WILL EASE WORLD'S FEARS

If such assurance is given by your government, I will immediately transmit it to the governments of the nations I have named and I will simultaneously inquire whether, as I am reasonably sure, each of the nations enumerated above will in turn give like assurance for transmission to you.

Reciprocal assurances such as I have outlined will bring to the world an immediate measure of relief.

I propose that if it is given, two essential problems shall promptly be discussed in the resulting peaceful surroundings, and in those discussions the government of the United States will gladly take part.

The discussions which I have in mind relate to the most effective and immediate manner through which the peoples of the world can obtain progressive relief from the crushing burden of armament which is each day bringing them more closely to the brink of economic disaster. Simultaneously the government of the United States would be prepared to take part in discussions looking towards the most practical manner of opening up avenues of international trade to the end that every nation of the earth may be enabled to buy and sell on equal terms in the world market as well as to possess assurance of obtaining the materials and products of peaceful economic life.

AN APPEAL FOR HUMANITY

At the same time, those governments other than the United States which are directly interested could undertake such political discussions as they may consider necessary or desirable.

We recognize complex world problems which affect all humanity but we know that study and discussion of them must be held in an atmosphere of peace. Such an atmosphere of peace cannot exist if negotiations are overshadowed by the threat of force or by the fear of war.

I think you will not misunderstand the spirit of frankness in which I send you this message. Heads of great governments in this hour are literally responsible for the fate of humanity in the coming years. They cannot fail to hear the prayers of their peoples to be protected from the foreseeable chaos of war. History will hold them accountable for the lives and the happiness of all—even unto the least.

I hope that your answer will make it possible for humanity to lose fear and regain security for many years to come.

A similar message is being addressed to the chief of the Italian government.

Knox to Resume Story of Dale Death Monday

Still standing on his story that Mrs. Helen Darragh Dale met death by her own hand in his apartment almost two years ago, former State Trooper George T. Knox will resume the stand in a searching cross-examination Monday by the prosecution which charges he is guilty of premeditated murder.

Repeated questions by Assistant District Attorney Edward F. Sullivan brought from Knox his story as court adjourned for the week-end, the contention that the dead divorcee frequently had discussed suicide when she was drinking.

He admitted he once had loved the comely Charlestown woman back in 1933, but that later they "broke off" and resumed relations later only on "a casual basis."

Knox revealed that in 1936, Mrs. Dale had discharged a gun in his Commonwealth avenue apartment, the bullet going through her handbag and lodging in the wall.

TRIAL RESUMES MONDAY

Sergt. Edward J. Seiboldt, police ballistics expert, testifying as a state witness, had previously told of finding two bullet holes in the wall of the living room of the Knox apartment, which he said in his opinion had been made some time prior to the fatal shooting of the divorcee.

The session closed with Knox still on the stand, battling for his life, and the trial was adjourned until Monday.

Under cross examination the witness said he had no recollection of telling police that he found Mrs. Dale on the floor of the living room after hearing the shot which took her life.

Love Links Girl To Farmer of 62

KITTANNING, Penn., April 15 (AP)—The household of a 62-year-old mountain farmer bustled today with the excitement of baking bread and cakes, stuffing chickens and rehearsing hymns—preparations for his marriage to an 18-year-old divorcee.

The feast will celebrate the wedding next Tuesday of George Washington Rosenberger, whose wife died 13 years ago, and Laura May Rosenberger. The identical names is a coincidence.

Laura May, plump and with a thick shock of ruffled dark brown hair, wed Joe McCura of Freeport when 16, she said, "but we didn't agree," so they were divorced last July.

Crash Curtails Bridge Traffic

Meridian street bridge, East Boston, was unavailable for auto traffic nearly all day today, after it was rammed by the oil tanker Pan-Main.

It remained open for foot traffic, and limited street car service.

A sort of shuttle service was run from Maverick square in East Boston. Revere cars were diverted through Central avenue.

The tanker, which "nudged" the understructure of the bridge, was undamaged. After the mishap, engineers had trouble getting the drawbridge tightly closed again.

Doctor Wed to Evade Hospital Rules Dies

ATLANTA, April 15 (AP)—Dr. Robert E. Gramling, 67, who married his office assistant, an undergraduate nurse, Tuesday so hospital rules would not prevent her nursing him, died today.

He never had the operation for which he entered a hospital. Dr. Gramling, member of a prominent Georgia family, had declined several times to enter the hospital because Mrs. Louise Harcourt could not nurse him and a bedside wedding followed.

New Trial Called for 'Huggers'

Because a juror sitting in the trial of two South Braintree youths charged with assaulting two Stoughton girls was a member of a jury previously dismissed for bringing in a not guilty verdict in another case, attorney for the youths won a mistrial in Dedham superior court.

Eleanor Savini

The defendants are James Alello, 26, and Nicholas Fabiano, 22, both of Pond street. Alello was charged with criminal assault on Eleanor Savini, 17, and Fabiano was charged with assault and battery on Edna Refalko, 19.

The juror over whom Atty. Dwight MacDonald, representing the defendants, called for mistrial was on the panel for the Alello-Fabiano trial before Judge Frank A. Donahue had dismissed the jury on which he had just served.

Atty. MacDonald contended that the juror would be biased as a result of Judge Donahue's censure of the other jury's action.

SPONSORS' RIFT WON'T HALT BALL

Upset but not dismayed by the withdrawal of two Republican district attorneys who have interpreted the offer of cash prizes as a lottery, sponsors of the Patriots' Day ball of the Massachusetts Republican Club will carry on.

The ball will be held at Boston Garden the evening of April 18, it was definitely announced today.

Stating that they had believed that the entire proceeds of the ball were to be devoted to a fund to send underprivileged children to summer camps, Dist. Atty. Robert F. Bradford, of Middlesex County, and Dist. Atty. Edmund R. Dewing, of Norfolk County, announced that they had withdrawn their support from the affair.

Both withdrawals were made in communications directed to Christian A. Herter, Republican speaker of the House of Representatives and president of the Republican Club of Boston.

"Last fall you asked me for permission to use my name as sponsor of the Patriots' Day Ball," said Bradford.

"For the first time today I discovered that a number of substantial prizes are being offered . . . giving the appearance of a lottery. Under these circumstances, I must ask that you strike my name from the committee."

Dist. Atty. Dewing, bitter opponent of beano, bank nites and other lotteries in Norfolk County, announced that he had withdrawn his support from the ball because "I can't campaign in Norfolk County against such tactics and then permit my name to be used in Suffolk County for the same purpose."

Like Bradford, Dewing said that he was under the impression that the ball was being run for the benefit of underprivileged children.

"Yesterday," he said, "I discovered that prizes were being given away in what appears to me to be a lottery."

greeted more than she could say having relinquished her citizenship.

Colonel Lindbergh, who was whisked directly to the Morrow home of mournful memories, was not so congenial.

He was as erect as ever, as cold, his lips in a straighter and grimmer line than even unfriendly reporters remembered them.

Once he almost smiled, however. It was when milling, jostling thousands cheered him to the echo as he was escorted to his car by New Jersey state police. The near-smile was fleeting.

WHY LINDBERGH COMES

The purposes which impelled the famous American airman to return to the United States after an absence of more than a year were believed to be these:

1—To use his influence in breaking government red tape said to be holding up the start of transatlantic passenger air service by Pan-American Airways, with a chance that Great Britain may seek first honors.

2—To report to responsible government authorities the results of his studies of the air strengths of the various European nations, and to advise on how the United States may build up its military preparedness in the air.

Lindbergh left his wife and two children in Paris, indicating that his stay in this country will be comparatively brief.

AUTOISTS FACE 'GASLESS' DAYS IN STRIKE

Ask Drivers Keep Off Road Sunday

A shortage of gasoline which may force "gasless" days for motorists, reminiscent of wartime "heatless Mondays" appeared a possibility today as fuel truck drivers and operators failed to make any progress toward settlement of the present labor dispute.

John P. McBride, state commissioner of the necessaries of life appealed to motorists to use their private cars as little as possible both today and tomorrow.

Gasoline and oil deliveries are practically halted, he said.

SUPPLY RUNS LOW

Latest developments in the situation were:

1—A threatened strike of workers aboard 181 tankers which keep the Atlantic seaboard supplied with oil and gasoline.

2—Organization of police escorts for trucks supplying emergency deliveries to hospitals.

3—Imminent closing of filling stations in the affected area as present supplies of gas and oil are nearly exhausted.

4—Boston Elevated and Eastern Massachusetts Railway bus service declared a "public necessity" by Commr. McBride, both companies to receive emergency deliveries for regular trips.

The labor dispute, affecting 2800 drivers and more than 30 employing companies, began last Tuesday when representatives of the two groups failed to agree on the date for expiration of a proposed contract.

HOPE FOR PEACE

While union officials claim some of the employers have come to terms, it was estimated that less than 10 percent of the normal number of delivery trucks were operating.

At a conference later in the day, it was hoped some kind of a compromise could be reached.

While the threatened strike of oil tank workers was not directly connected with the present delivery dispute, officials feel that such a strike would again cut off supplies to the big gas and oil companies, even in the event of a settlement of the present dispute.

Thomas McGowan, business agent for the tankers workers union, left for New York for a strike conference.

In appealing to local motorists to remain off the highways tomorrow, Commissioner McBride said:

"A real emergency exists in the gasoline and oil situation."

PLEA TO MOTORISTS

"It is difficult to deliver gasoline for automobile consumption to the distributing stations.

"I am appealing to the motorists of the state to declare a voluntary fuel-less Sunday so that persons who are forced to use their automobiles because of emergency will have the necessary fuel.

"If motorists will remain off the highways tomorrow it will be a great benefit in this present situation."

An all-night meeting of union officials and fuel company owners at the State House ended in a deadlock today, but arbitration board members ordered a resumption of negotiations this afternoon.

If necessary, meetings will be held continuously, with only short recesses, throughout the weekend in order to settle the controversy before Monday, officials said.

Governor Saltonstall, realizing the seriousness of the situation, cancelled a trip to New York and probably will not attend the famous Gridiron Dinner in Washington.

OKLAHOMA TWISTER KILLS 7

CHEROKEE, Okla., April 15 (AP)—Seven persons were killed and more than 30 injured by a vagrant twister which destroyed this town of 150 in a rampage last night over a wide northwestern Oklahoma area.

Four only houses in the town were left undamaged.

Five died in demolished farm homes. An automobile was jerked from the air and smashed to earth several feet away, killing the occupants.

An elderly farm couple were lifted from their beds and thrown into a ravine beside their home. There they were found by a son, who took them to a hospital in the family automobile—after he righted it with the aid of a neighbor. The car had been blown over by the wind.

Hospital attendants said 12 of those injured were in a critical condition.

Tobin, Reardon In Washington

Mayor Tobin and his secretary, Cornelius A. Rearcon, arrived in Washington today for a week-end visit. They planned to confer with WPA and PWA officials this afternoon and to attend the Gridiron dinner tonight. They will return late tomorrow.

Pet Dog Hero Saves 22 From Death in Fire

MONESSEN, Penn., April 15 (AP)—A collie dog helped today to save 22 persons from a fire which wrecked a three-story apartment building in downtown Monessen.

Miss Anita McGinness, a tenant, awoke to find Buddy, her collie, tugging at her bedclothing and sniffing at her face. She aroused her father, who telephoned an alarm.

Police arrived a few minutes later and fired several shots to arouse other tenants.

Soon after the last occupants escaped the floors began to collapse.

Torso of Slain Girl Hunted in Drains

BALTIMORE, April 15 (AP)—The torso of a young woman was sought today in East Baltimore's ancient sewers after a macabre hunt through the dank drains disclosed three parcels containing limbs and vital organs.

Police and street department employes were ordered to examine a quarter mile section of the Lombard street sewer where eight-year-old Nicholas Kiepper found a comic-section wrapped hand and leg last night while searching for a rubber ball.

Dr. Charles W. Wood, Eastern district coroner, said they had been hacked from a girl, between 16 and 18 years old, fair skinned, weighing about 100 pounds and approximately five feet tall.

She had been dead "four or five hours," he asserted and denied the possibility of a medical student's prank.

Neighbors attracted by the boy's cries when his companion hauled him from the manhole, obtained the first package. The news spread rapidly and sewer covers were removed by residents along the street.

A fourth package containing two rumpled pairs of women's pajamas and two blue slips—all without manufacturer's labels—was found at another crossing.

The second package contained a heart which Dr. Wood said had been slashed twice with a large knife or cleaver, and other organs which were to be examined by toxicologists for poison. The third contained a leg and foot, apparently severed by the same heavy instrument, Dr. Wood said.

While two police boats were dispatched to watch at the sewer outlet in the harbor, Lieutenant Harborn began to check a list of 13 recently reported missing girls, for clues.

Love Comes To Patricia

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., April 15 (INS)—Spring is in the air, and with it came romance to titian-tressed Patricia Ziegfeld, 22-year old debutante daughter of Billie Burke and the late Florenz Ziegfeld.

As an old-fashioned gold engagement ring with a circlet of diamonds flashed on the young woman's hand, it was announced today that she will be the June bride of William R. Stephenson. He is a dance instructor at a Beverly Hills hotel.

Revealing that the engagement ring isn't the only old-fashioned thing connected with the romance, Miss Ziegfeld smilingly explained:

"I am just an old-fashioned girl who believes love is the only important thing in marriage."

To which her mother, bedridden with a broken ankle, added:

"They are very brave and courageous children. Bless their hearts."

A graduate of Norwalk and Columbia Universities, Stephenson, 26, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stephenson of Los Angeles.

OLD FASHIONED—Not a career, but old-fashioned love and marriage, with a gold engagement ring, is choice of Patricia Ziegfeld, 22-year-old daughter of Billie Burke and the late Flo Ziegfeld. She becomes bride of William Stephenson, dance instructor, in June.

Coal Miners Reject 'Compromise' Offer

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—Agreement on a new contract to end a shutdown in the Appalachian soft coal industry appeared farther away than ever today after a flat rejection by the United Mine Workers of a compromise offer by coal operators.

Both CIO President John L. Lewis and Charles O'Neill, spokesman for the operators, admitted negotiations were "hopelessly deadlocked," but a subcommittee of four miners and four operators agreed to confer again today.

Man Kills Divorced Wife's Lawyer, Turns Gun on Self in Town Square

GREENFIELD, Ind., April 15 (AP)—A small-town auctioneer whose wife had just won a divorce stalked angrily from the courthouse and killed her lawyer and himself in a dramatic shooting on the public square of this quiet central Indiana county seat.

Albert Swain, 47, and Charles L. Tindall, 62, both of Greenfield, fell mortally wounded with a .16-gauge shotgun late yesterday on Main street, a few blocks from the birthplace of the poet James Whitcomb Riley. They died in an Indianapolis hospital.

Deputy Coroner Norman R. Booher said there he would recommend a verdict that Tindall, the attorney, was murdered and Swain, the auctioneer, committed suicide.

Both had spent their lives in Hancock county. Tindall had been prosecutor and Democratic county chairman.

Court records in neighboring Henry county showed that ten years ago a woman client of Tindall won a judgment from Swain for alienation of affections. Lawyers said bad feeling between the men began then.

Yesterday Special Judge Cassius M. Gentry, of Noblesville, in Circuit Court here granted Swain's wife, Eunice, a divorce, $1000 alimony and custody of their children, Jackie, 9, and Evelyn, 20, Indiana University student.

Tindall picked up his brief case and left the courtroom for his office across the street. Swain went to his parked automobile. Sheriff John Dent said Swain took the gun from the car, shot the attorney in the left side of the face and then loaded again and fired into his own stomach.

Tindall fell just as he started up a stairway. Swain dropped 25 feet away, in the middle of the street. The shot splintered the window of a barber shop and spattered a pedestrian.

SCHOOLGIRLS SAVE 2 IN WATERTOWN FIRE

Two Watertown high school girls today were heroines found not wanting in their duty of caring for two youngsters.

They are Anna Breen, 17, of Dwight street and Barbara Ewart, 17, of Bromfield street, who were enlisted as nursemaids for the children of Mr. and Mrs. John Keefe of Richards road, Watertown, while the Breens went out for the evening.

When they heard the crackle of flames, they refused to become panicky. Instead, they ran to a second floor bedroom and carried out the Keefe youngsters, Jane, 4, and Arthur, 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lusk made their escape from a first floor apartment, carrying their son, Robert, Jr., 2.

The fire, declared by fire officials to have started in the attic from a short circuit, caused estimated damage of $500. Only three weeks ago, a fire in the basement caused $1000 damage.

N.H. KILLER SUSPECT SIGHTED

BERLIN, N. H., April 15—A man, tall and dark, wearing a sheepskin coat, was principal suspect today as state police pressed their search for the murderer of Mrs. Adele Gagne, 43-year-old mother of seven children.

The suspect is the individual described by authorities as the "mystery man" who fired the incendiary fire set in the Gagne home while the murder victim was being waked.

If the suspect is ever apprehended, principal witness will be Mrs. Frank Gunther of Hutchins street, Napert Village.

She thinks she saw him the night of the murder as she crossed the railroad tracks, 20 feet from the spot where Mrs. Gagne's body was found.

When she appeared the man, who was brushing his clothing, turned and ran away, half stooped.

A shift of lights gave her a fairly revealing glimpse of him, and she is confident she would recognize him if she should see him again.

ROUND UP DRIFTERS

Attorney-General Thomas P. Cheney, in charge of the probe, has ordered a roundup of all dubious characters, particularly of drifters who have been living hand to mouth in shacks.

Twenty suspects already have been questioned at Berlin police headquarters.

The macabre fire in the room in which the body of the murder victim was being waked was discovered by her eight-year-old daughter, Cecile.

If it had not been discovered in time, it would have consumed both casket and corpse. Charles Gagne turned in a fire alarm, and the remains were saved from cremation.

MET GIRL IN TAVERN

Last person but one to see the murdered woman alive last Tuesday night was a girl who met her in a tavern an hour before she started for her home.

As police reconstruct the crime, she was attacked either by a man she knew or a stranger as she took the short cut along a lonely path from the railway track to the main street.

Tradition ..or Trend?

The Clear-Sighted Way to Choose the Best Paper for Result-ful Retail Advertising

Even last week can be "tradition" in retailing. Tradition is what has happened. The trend is what is happening . . . particularly that happening which is a continuation of what has been happening. It's alive, significant. For instance, the consistent eleven-months' gain in retail advertising linage in the Record-American.

Private lives can follow tradition but business livelihoods must follow the trend. So month after month more and more retail advertisers are advertising more and more in the Record-American. Of course, the fact that retailers have been using more and more space in this one paper is no mere happinstance. The Record-American pays out. Because it reaches the "active, spending half" of the Boston market. Because its line rate for talking to and showing merchandise to almost half a million people is a bargain that experts in bargains can't pass up. Because the rate at which more and more of their customers are becoming Record-American readers shows which way the trade wind is blowing.

Here's the linage gains and losses figures on all Boston papers for the month of March. Take a look at the way this trend to the Record-American is becoming a well-beaten trail. Take a look, take a lesson, load up the covered wagon and hit the trail for more active sales territory . . . in the new sales-power medium, the RECORD-AMERICAN.

Invite Settlers To Northwest

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER
International News Service Economic Commentator

PORTLAND, Ore., April 15 (INS)—In these days when the national economy is "export trade" and "foreign exchange," the pessimists have their innings. One of their theme songs is that the American frontier has been pushed to the Pacific.

Mr. Joseph K. ... [illegible] ... an ... spokesman for the Pacific Northwest. Dealing with the defeatist argument that with the disappearance of free land the American spirit has passed, Mr. ... said:

"Of course, we do not have the frontier of the kind we formerly enjoyed. Most of the new wealth must from now on be earned rather than discovered or conquered. I would recommend the Pacific Northwest as a land of opportunity for young people.

"We have a splendid citizenry already. Our people demand and get staple government. Oregon and its political subdivisions are paying their debts. The climate is much like that of France, British Isles, and the Scandinavian peninsula, conducive to good health.

"On a small income one can acquire a nice home, live economically and yet have many more pleasures and comforts. There is elbow room, and we have splendid schools, and a low rate of illiteracy.

"I would not advise any one coming here to expect to make a lot of money, nor one expecting to live without work.

"Our people are friendly and we are building a culture in this section that will be exceeded by none on this continent."

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., April 15 (INS)—The flight of gold to the United States from European danger zones was intensified today.

Expert Urges Expansions

CLEVELAND, April 15 (AP)—Economist Leonard Porter Ayres declared today each month that passes without the initiation of a vigorous increase in new corporate financing decreases the probability that this recovery will become self-sustaining.

In his monthly business review, the Cleveland Trust Company vice president said corporation executives already "are discussing the possible desirability of postponing new financing until next year when international tensions abroad may be less menacing, and political prospects at home will have become easier to interpret."

He held that industrial and commercial profits in the last two quarters "were encouraging" when "the moderate volume of activity is taken into consideration."

"The greatest need now," Colonel Ayres said, "is more production, and especially more of the sort of production that goes into new plants, more modern equipment, expansions, additions, improvements and betterments.

"Such undertakings are financed by the sale of corporate securities, and such sales are made when executives have confidence in the prospects for profits, and when investors share that confidence."

Latest Astaire-Rogers Hit at Keith Memorial Next Week

Two Previews Tuesday Night

Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, America's No. 1 dancing sweethearts duet here next week in their eighth co-starring musical film, "The Story of Vernon and Irene Castle."

Cavalcade of songs and dances this RKO-Radio production is based on the colorful lives of the fabulous dance team during the period just prior to the World War and will open Wednesday at Keith Memorial Theater. The companion feature will be announced later.

"The Story of Vernon and Irene Castle" will have two preview showings Tuesday evening, the first at 7 and the second at 10.

The fascinating story of "The Story of Vernon and Irene Castle" is a tale of petty science persecution and ultimate reward of two people who had faith in themselves and each other. Too it is a story of a boy and girl who made the world dance-conscious and set the tempo for today's modern dances.

Countless thousands who saw or knew of The Castles will see again as they view this picture those fabulous years just before and during the World War. Those waviest of mature years will remember Vernon Castle as a be-spatted sleuth to Lew Fields in the famous barber shop scene in "The Hen-pecks (1911) and later The Castles' debut and start of their American triumphs at Louis Martin's where they introduced the Castle Walk, which nearly drove a nation dance crazy.

Such nostalgic memories of yesteryear as "I'm Lights of the Silvery Moon," "Waiting for the Robert E. Lee," "On You Beautiful Ohio" and "Darktown Strutters Ball" in addition to a score of other old time lilting songs provide the musical background for the love action.

The characters in the picture are authentic. Lew Fields who played an important part in the Castles' lives plays himself. Edna May Oliver, Walter Brennan, Janet Beecher, Etienne Girardot and others also appear in the cast.

RAILBIRDS—Hugh Herbert, Zasu Pitts, George Raft and Ellen Drew on the rail in "The Lady's From Kentucky," opening Wednesday on the Paramount and Fenway screens.

Japan Film Uncensored

The first uncensored films of Japan are brought to the screen of Keith Memorial Theater this week in the March of Time's new release, "Japan: Master of the Orient," shown in conjunction with the hold-over engagement of Deanna Durbin's starring film, "Three Smart Girls Grow Up," and answers pictorially many questions that Americans have wondered about during Japan's extended conquests.

In August 1938, March of Time's producer Louis de Rochemont selected his youngest (and one of his most able) cameraman, Victor Jurgens, to go to the Orient. Jurgens has travelled 18,000 miles since leaving New York, and has flown over the front lines in Japanese planes.

'Submarine Patrol' On Normandie Bill

Normandie screen's features today, through Monday, are "Submarine Patrol," with Richard Greene and Nancy Kelly, and "The Girl Downstairs," with Franciska Gaal and Franchot Tone.

BOWDOIN'S FILMS

Bowdoin offerings over the week-end are "Topper Takes a Trip" with Constance Bennett and Roland Young and "Kid of the Underworld," with Humphrey Bogart.

SOUTH STATION FEATURES

On the screen at South Station next are "The Great Train Robbery," one of the very early films in sports. Dorothy Mackaill, Charles Chase and other features.

Gala List of New Films For Loew's Orpheum, State

Loew's will leap into spring with "Broadway Serenade" This important Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer musical is Jeanette MacDonald's "coronation" film, for it is the first in which she has appeared since her recent election in a nation-wide newspaper poll as Hollywood's Queen of the Screen."

Besides introducing a score of brand new songs, "Broadway Serenade" tells a modern, fast-paced story in the tradition of "Sweethearts." Miss MacDonald has a new leading man in Lew Ayres and an important supporting cast headed by Ian Hunter, Frank Morgan, Iris Johnson, Virginia Grey and Franklyn Pangborn.

Another much-heralded romance coming to Loew's State and Orpheum screens soon is "Lucky Night," in which Myrna Loy and Robert Taylor make screen love for the first time. It's an appropriately-titled film, for all the exciting events take place between midnight and dawn, and leave Miss Loy and Taylor wealthier, wiser and married to each other.

One of literature's most interesting stories comes to the screen in Samuel Goldwyn's important production of "Wuthering Heights." Based on Emily Bronte's novel of the same name, it will bring Merle Oberon and Laurence Olivier, who were last seen together in "The Divorce of Lady X," in the roles of Cathy and Heathcliff, Miss Bronte's century-famous lovers.

The "series" type of picture which is becoming more and more popular, will certainly be getting its innings at Loew's in the weeks and months to come. Mickey Rooney, Lewis Stone and the rest of the Hardy Family are to be seen very shortly, in the latest exposition of their musical adventures.

"Calling Dr. Kildare," which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer made following the warm reception accorded "Young Dr. Kildare," is in the offing. Starring Lew Ayres, Lionel Barrymore, Lana Turner, Lynne Day, Nat Pendleton and Lynn Carver, "Calling Dr. Kildare" will be another interesting episode in the life of a young physician in a busy city hospital.

For late spring, Loew Theater patrons can expect to see Camille Conteit paired with James Stewart in "It's a Wonderful World," Annabella together with Robert Young in "Maiden Voyage" and Melvyn Douglas sharing honors with Louise ("Stage Door") Platt in "A Hundred to One" and Robert Donat and Greer Garson in "Goodbye Mr. Chips."

MASSACHUSETTS COMMUNISTS apparently agree with the man who said "slum" was a word not a prison make.

That is a logical conclusion as you read reports from Norfolk Penal Colony where Superintendent Maurice J. Winslow vainly seeks the source of Red propaganda circulated among the institution's 989 convicts.

"We find the stuff hidden away in the men's rooms whenever we conduct our periodical 'raids'," he explains.

You remember certain legislators and various "liberals" thought it funny a few weeks ago when informed persons testified before a Boston H. committee that magazines, books and circulars advocating overthrow of the American system of government were widely distributed throughout the Commonwealth.

Do those "Doubting Thomases" still think it funny?

"HAVE WE REACHED the stage in this country where we can no longer provide useful employment for millions of our workers?" the Rev. Robert P. Barry, director of the Catholic Charitable Bureau, asks you.

His worthy organization assisted 29,150 families last year at a cost of $689,417. With the aid of the St. Vincent de Paul Society it cared for 1712 children and 269 mothers. And it obtained jobs for 507 persons.

You cannot consider Father Barry's important question without also thinking of the Roosevelt Administration's ruinous reciprocal trade agreement program.

American markets flooded with slave labor products from the world's low-standard countries . . . New England mills closed or partly closed while the things they used to make are brought in from England, Japan, Germany and other nations . . . Government taking away industry's business on one hand and confiscating what is left on the other.

That picture answers the question.

A MOTHER OF SEVEN, resident of Rochester, N. H., faces deportation to Canada and separation from her children, now in the care of an orphanage.

Because her husband failed to become an American citizen, he was compelled to stay in Thetford Mines, P. Q., where he went to visit his parents. The wife, deprived of his wages by the government's action, turned to the city for aid and thus, unknowingly, qualified as an "unwanted" alien. But five of the children, born in the United States, are Americans. They must remain here.

You won't reconcile this division of a law-abiding, little family with Shakespeare's contention that "the quality of mercy is not strained."

Had Shakespeare been a Twentieth Century American, he would have seen "the quality of mercy" strained to the limit to permit radical and revolution-minded aliens to continue their activities on this soil in open defiance of law and public opinion.

"ALICE STONE BLACKWELL is the most representative of great American women alive today," declares Mrs. Maud Wood Park, famous champion of feminine rights, now visiting Boston.

Boston University graduate and trustee, reformer, editor and author of distinction, pioneer woman's suffrage campaigner and forceful patriot, Miss Blackwell is indeed a great woman.

But [illegible] we must [illegible] she would be the first to deny that she is "the most representative."

Somewhere within your circle there is a woman—your mother perhaps—who bore and reared many sons and daughters, devoted her talents to them and inspired them to upright manhood and womanhood.

That woman, too, is great—and representative.

STATE REGULATION of expenditures in cities and towns appeals to Administration leaders on Beacon Hill.

Representative Arthur I. Burgess of Quincy, drafting a bill providing for a powerful financial control board to supervise municipal appropriations, explains:

"If we are unable to reduce the State tax, we must control spending in cities and towns."

Here, in new dress, is the old story of the gentlemen who failed to manage their own affairs but insisted on tending to everybody else's.

Wasn't would be Mr. Burgess and his fellow legislators if they could say to mayors and selectmen:

"We HAVE reduced the State tax and we HAVE put our own house in order. Now we can afford to look after yours."

FEMINISTS COMPLAIN that the defeat of the bill to place women on Massachusetts juries is unfair to women.

"We have all other male privileges," they say. "We vote. We hold public office. We demonstrate our ability in business and in the professions. Many of us fly airplanes and would fight if called to war. But, for some unknown reason, we are not considered fit to participate in judicial deliberations."

Let's keep the record straight; there is another male "privilege" no Bay State woman has or wants. It is the "privilege" of paying [illegible] taxes.

Human Side of News -r- by EDWIN C. HILL

"DR. LIVINGSTONE, I PRESUME?" a very fine film of the salty old West of Bill Hickok and Bat Masterson is the newest of such Western epics. But the producers in their efforts to appease the insatiable appetite of the film theaters are going far afield for great stories of real events which need little retouching or embroidery.

For example, one of our finest screen actors, Spencer Tracy of "Boys' Town," and so many other fine films, is at present engaged in making for 20th Century-Fox the story of Henry M. Stanley's heroic adventures into Central Africa to find the Scottish missionary explorer, Dr. David Livingstone.

SPENCER TRACY
Portrays Explorer Stanley

I WONDER, when I read of these modern explorers and thrill hunters, if a single one of them ever gives a thought to the great man who made easy adventures possible, who single-handed conquered the terrors of the Dark Continent, opened it to the white race and dreamed of an empire to be founded on right and justice. The great man who got Africa into his heart who could never get it out.

Not ten men in the last century dared as much as Henry M. Stanley, or dreamed a dream so magnificent. He was working for James Gordon Bennett, the younger, of the New York Herald, when Bennett sent for him to come to Paris. The reporter found the great man in bed. Said Bennett:

"I want you to go to Central Africa and find Dr. Livingstone. Act according to your own plans, but find Livingstone. Draw a thousand pounds and, when you have got through that, draw another thousand—when that's gone, draw another thousand But find Livingstone."

AND THEN after eight months of the frightful journey, Stanley heard the electric news that a white man was to be found in the village of Ujiji. He came to the fringe of the village. And in the market place Stanley found the man he was looking for, Dr Livingstone, old and ill.

Then followed greeting between the old man who had been lost to the world for years, and the man who had overcome ten thousand devils to find him, a become greeting which has become one of the classic stories of modern times.

"Dr. Livingstone, I presume?"

"Yes"

They shook hands.

"I thank God, doctor, that I have been permitted to see you."

"I feel most thankful that I am here to welcome you."

As casually as if they had drifted together in the traffic of the Strand or Piccadilly.

Political Parade -r- by GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, April 15. April has been a fateful war month for America. It was on the 6th of that month, in the year 1917, that the Republic took the pledge into the European and the Far East. From America was to emerge a victorious world power.

April 6, 1917, was the fateful decision to make the world safe for democracy on the battlefields of Europe.

TODAY, as Europe rushes headlong into another world war, ironically enough financed by the unpaid billions [illegible] the people of the United States, another April sees an older Axis menace.

But this time, for the first time in American history, it is the President of the United States, and not the Congress of the United States, who seems to hold the war-making power. The Constitution is [illegible] says it is.

From the rear platform of a railroad train in Georgia the President utters a sentence of such gravity, that until Mr. Roosevelt introduced the new technique, no President had ever used such [illegible] and gave in a message to the Congress as the Constitution requires.

SENATOR BRIDGES
The Remark Riled Him

Now, it must be admitted that this Congress of ours is dumb, stupid. It is not intellectually tops by any manner of means.

Many individuals, including Senator Bridges of New Hampshire, in Senate and House were riled by that Warm Springs remark of the President. Some thought it provocative. For two days resentment against it increased but still Congress as a whole didn't grasp the significance.

Congress could not believe that Mr. Roosevelt was talking about war for America.

So after one more day the President found it necessary to stir up the sluggish gentlemen on the Hill. He had to underscore that Warm Springs remark. He had to tell Congress—not in a message, as the Constitution requires, but by the process of quoting an editorial at a press conference that when he said "war" he meant "WAR."

WELL, there's the situation in Congress, as the President makes plain what is in his mind about the American part in the European war.

CAN THIS CONGRESS SUCH A CONGRESS! — KEEP AMERICA OUT OF WAR?

It is YOUR Congress. It is up to YOU to tell YOUR Congress to keep you out of war.

If you don't—before you know it, you will find yourself in a trench with a gun in your hand.

LISTEN, WORLD! -:- -:- By Elsie Robinson

A TIRED MAN wrote me this question. You'd know his name if I told you—so I won't. You'd sneer at his motive—so I won't, again. Instead, I'll give you his words as straight as he asked them and my answer as true as it came.

"DO YOU BELIEVE IN PRAYER?" he asked.

"YES, I DO!" I answered.

"Do you believe that prayer will strengthen me, hearten me, give me new courage and confidence?"

I DO! And here's why.

I believe in prayer as I believe in earth . . . in wind . . . in rain . . . in all the searching questions and answers of life . . . in all the searchings and receivings.

I BELIEVE it is as natural for a man to pray as it is for a beast to breathe or a brute to drink . . . or a plant to strike out roots. Plants and beasts do not know to what they reach . . . nor what answers their hunger or thirst. Yet they do reach. And something does answer their need.

I TOO DO NOT KNOW TO WHAT I REACH . . . I DO NOT KNOW THE NATURE OF THAT WHICH ANSWERS MY PRAYER, OR FILLS MY NEED . . . BUT I DO KNOW THAT THERE IS SOMETHING GREATER AND WISER THAN MY COMMON UNDERSTANDING. I DO KNOW THERE IS SOMETHING . . . BECAUSE I SEE IT AND FEEL IT ALL AROUND ME . . . I SEE AND FEEL A GREATER BEAUTY AND STRENGTH ALL AROUND ME . . . A GREATER POWER AND PURPOSE—AND SO, THOUGH I CANNOT COMPREHEND ITS SOURCES NOR EXPLAIN ITS METHODS, I REACH OUT TO THIS GREATER BEAUTY, PURPOSE AND POWER.

As a small bird sings its song on the winds of the heavens . . . so I send [illegible] on the power of God . . . As some [illegible] reach to the depths of the soil . . . so I [illegible] and desire in the soul of God AND I PRAY.

PRAYING IS NOT RELIGIOUS' ANY MORE THAN EATING OR LAUGHING OR LOVING OR WORKING ARE RELIGIOUS. PRAYER IS JUST LIVING AS THEY ARE ALL LIVE.

I will pray as I live . . . I will accept prayer as I observe prayer as I accept and observe life . . . I will pray as a bird sings . . . as a plant blooms . . . as a wind calls . . . as a tide rises. And somehow, somewhere, the answer [illegible] will come.

I do not need to worry . . . any more than a plant or a bird or a tide worries. They are all part of life . . . as I am part of life. They all are answered . . . as I will be answered. They need not worry. Nor do I!

I PRAY! And that which made me . . . that of which I am a part . . . will answer me . . . as [illegible] answers part.

You Can be Beautiful

Put Lips In the Pink

By ARLINE GOULD

PINK makes the boys wink . . . pink is the most becoming color you could put next to your eyes . . . it makes them starry . . . pink is the flush of genuine youth . . . so aren't you glad that pink is the most important cosmetic color of today?

No more old pink lipsticks mean "There are harsh chalky pinks that couldn't do a thing for you. But we've found a trio of new lip sticks, each one frankly based on pink . . . and yet unlike them, you will find just the one to accent any fair-weather shade of the season, even to those difficult chartreuse and sulphur tones.

VARIOUS SHADES

First is "diantbus" and with it on your cheeks and lips, you'll become wild rose coloring when you wear any shade of brown or variations of it.

Pink rose has unexpected depths of mauve in it, and though it is gayest, you'll find it perfect with any violet tinged tone. Lovely with taupe, or camels, or fondest anyone neat to your face.

Carnation has the exotic flush of the most brilliant camellia you could find . . . this flower of great charm starts with the palest shades, sometimes touched with white, often not and it works up to an intense pink that is indescribable.

WITH ANY COLORS

It is all exactly. You can wear it with new effect with any colors that suit you when your skin has been tanned just so. And it is marvelous with tiny black and white checks or any black and white combination. Much newer looking than cherry red.

Contrary to your expectation, these new pink lipsticks need more look up than usual to look them up. If you're really going to look colorful by evening! They take a pastel eyeshadow beautifully.

The new strange, far-away blue-green is wonderful. And do be sure your cheeks are not pale.

To learn about these three new "in the pink" lipsticks, phone Arline Gould, Liberty 4000, week-days until 5:30, or write her, inclosing a stamped, self addressed envelope.

SIREN with lips the color of a pink, pink rose . . . did you ever think you'd see the day when pastels could be so alluring? It's the exciting new trend in make-up, and Ann Sheridan demonstrates it . . . Arline Gould writes about it.

Study Drawing at Home

An interesting career or a dull job? Of course, you'd choose a career—if you had the chance.

And you have! Fashion art, in which many young women are making outstanding successes can be learned at home in spare time.

With the aid of charts and illustrations you understand the principles of drawing, the proportions of the figure.

GRASP FAMILY

The rules of figure balance, for instance, you grasp easily when you compare the body to a stack of coins, as illustrated above.

You see that a stack of coins in which the weight is unevenly balanced will fall. Similarly, in a drawing, if the weight of the body is unevenly distributed the figure appears to be falling. The right way is to distribute the weight evenly as shown by the coins and figure at the right in our diagram.

Other technical points you master just as easily. You learn perspective, foreshortening—how to shorten the figure in certain positions as your eye shortens!

You progress from simple line drawing to tone composition, learn how to do fabrics, furs. Soon you copy smart costumes, know how to feature "upstairs" fashion details—the tilt of a hat, the touch of white on a dress.

"CAREER GIRL"

You feel like a real "career girl" when you're ready to make your first professional call, portfolio under arm. Where to call? At department stores, advertising agencies, newspapers, magazines—all use fashion art.

Our 40-page booklet, Home Course in Fashion Art, gives you practical instruction in fascinating and profitable fashion art. Has 138 illustrations including charts based on the famous Da Vinci rules of figure proportion. Gives clear explanation of the principles of light and shade, wash, rendering of furs and fabrics. Tells how to make your work suitable, professional.

Send 15 cents in coins for our booklet, Home Course in Fashion Art, to Boston Evening American, Home Institute, 109 West 39th street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Mother-in-Law

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Can a son be compelled legally to support his mother-in-law? It happens to be my mother-in-law and my mother-in-law and I do not get along well together. If I must support her it would mean giving her as much as we can't live under the same roof. My salary is $40 a week but I am under heavy expense account in constant demands bills owing to my wife's ill health.

I feel that my mother-in-law is not a blood relation and as I cannot afford to make a definite allowance to keep her I would like to know the legal status. Please remember I do not object to my wife's sister helping her mother. I cannot afford to keep two homes.

CONSTANT READER.

It is not necessary for a man to support his mother-in-law. There is however, a moral duty as well to do so if she is a widow who has given up a home in order to care for her daughter. If you would be willing to support your mother-in-law I should advise your wife.

Camilla

by Anne Stretton, who wrote 'PROPOSAL'

Who's Who and What's Happened:

CAMILLA and MARK might have come into a fine inheritance if their father, a famous but eccentric writer, had married their mother. But this he neglected to do, and when he died he left no provision for his children. He did, however, leave a life interest in the house to their mother.

GLADYS, who had no material affection at all for Camilla and Mark. And he willed the lands of Dore to

SIMON, a cousin. Simon managed the estate efficiently, and was like a brother to Camilla and Mark. They had no idea Simon was in love until the day he brought his fiancee,

EVELYN, to Dore. Instinctively they disliked her, and knew that the feeling was mutual. To Mark's amazement, on his sixteenth birthday, Simon made over Dore to him. Camilla found Evelyn reading Mark's note of thanks to Simon. Discovering them quarreling, Simon sent Camilla to her room. When she was unable to make Simon keep Dore, Evelyn broke her engagement. But she changed her mind later and married him. At the wedding Camilla overheard the guests talking about her father.

Now Continue:

CHAPTER TWELVE

CAMILLA stood looking down into the smug dreariness of Wetherby Gardens for what seemed a long time before the window was opened and Mark came out on the balcony.

"What are you doing out here?" He sounded annoyed. "You're not supposed to go off by yourself on these occasions, you know."

"Well I didn't want to stay there, Mark." Camilla stammered a little. "They were talking about us—at least, some people were. I thought I'd get lost."

Mark said something.

"Oh? What were they saying?"

"They were talking about Mother."

Mark never replied.

By JACK CONWAY

Miller, Cuccinello Star Combination | Next Week Big One for Sports

EDDIE MILLER and Tony Cuccinello of the Bees should prove one of the greatest double play combinations in baseball this year. I make this statement after having watched this pair stage some sensational double killings in the South.

Miller is the spark plug to these [illegible] feeds Pete Cuccinello the [illegible] veteran who is always at the right place at the [illegible] moments of ball games.

Eddie Fletcher at first base has the necessary fielding skill to [illegible] the combination.

Miller and Cuccinello have [illegible] succeeded in speeding up Debs Garms on double plays. Garms has a splendid arm but still has a tendency to lead the ball a fraction of a second before he [illegible] it.

You may be sure that Miller and Cuccinello will do much to correct Garms of the habit of changing [illegible] the made too long.

Many [illegible] those players who know from [illegible] where to throw the ball. Other players often [illegible] acquire this knowledge.

It was said of Babe Ruth that [illegible] he next baseball [illegible] throwing the ball after [illegible] leaned it to the right [illegible]

And [illegible] Fletcher and Tony Cuccinello will do [illegible] to check many runs and [illegible] the Bees. One that will enable [illegible] to be a [illegible] batsmen [illegible] the first [illegible]

The Bees [illegible] the Pete and Sox were [illegible] the fans on [illegible] [illegible] the two teams [illegible] before the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] drawn. Fans and Red Sox come back to Boston from the South [illegible] well [illegible] and determined to [illegible] the records of last season.

The Bees have set the first all [illegible] as the [illegible] while the Sox failed to accept the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the Yankees [illegible] [illegible]

Busy Week in Sports Ahead

NEW ENGLAND will certainly have its share of sports events next week. Baseball is entitled to hold the center of the stage early in the week.

The Bees will pry off the league [illegible] in this city with the Phillies as opponents at National League Park on Tuesday. On Patriots' Day, the Bees will play a double-header with the Phillies.

For all people used to think that something should have been done about stopping the horse racing season so that it would not conflict with baseball, the Bees and Red Sox will be playing their best baseball at the very time the horses are [illegible] Suffolk Downs.

Hockey [illegible] a wonderful season in Boston and we are all pleased that the Bruins are still battling for the Stanley Cup even though the students [illegible] are taking [illegible] of the [illegible] away from the Bees and Sox.

Possibly the splendid example set by the Bruins in competition will inspire the Bees and Sox to make every pennant bid.

Marathon Race on Wednesday

THE B. A. A. MARATHON, the greatest classic of its kind, will be held on Wednesday with a big field racing from Hopkinton to Exeter street. You may share my belief that Marathon running is one of the greatest [illegible] but you must admit that it draws the largest crowd to attend any athletic event in the United States.

CLANCY STICKS BY BEES

Clancy still insists that the Bees have a better team than the Sox while backers of Cronin's club declare the American League outfit will run the Bees right out of the ball park.

"You can say for me," said Stengel today, "that we want to win both of our Boston games with the Red Sox. If we can beat the Sox with Jimmy Foxx and Joe Cronin in the lineup, we should certainly be able to win over the Phillies in our league opening on next Tuesday."

The Bees have developed [illegible] power as they have come [illegible] from the Grapefruit League [illegible] say they will greet Gallivan, [illegible] Vaker and Heving with a [illegible] of base hits today. It will [illegible] thing new for Boston fans to see the Bees whacking the ball [illegible] There were [illegible] at National League Park when the fans thought a holiday should be declared because the Bees had [illegible] more than a hand full of hits.

SIMMONS READY

The pitchers were then cleared to do all of the work. Otherwise there would have been few victories for the Bees.

ODDS JUMP ON ROPER, LOUIS BOUT

LOS ANGELES, April 15 (AP)—[illegible] a decided surprise to no [illegible] betting odds on Champion Joe Louis to flatten Jack Roper [illegible] Monday night jumped a [illegible] notches today as the [illegible] and his veteran challenger [illegible] into the final [illegible]

For days Louis has been a 10 to 1 choice to win, with most of the betting hinging on the knockout round. Today, however, following a spectacular display of punching sharpness by the Brown Bomber from Detroit, the price eased up to 12 to 1 and probably will be around 15 to 1 by the time the two climb into the ring at Wrigley Field.

Though to tell however most of the betting is of the verbal variety, and weird reports that Roper money was [illegible] on the scene, covering some of the long odds, are as hard to trace down as Roper's complete record of 16 years in the prize ring.

The backing behind big Jack is mostly hope, but make no mistake that there isn't an abundant supply of it. His training camp for the past six weeks has been more like and old fashioned revival meeting in his native Dixie, and that means it has been in a constant uproar of enthusiasm.

Louis, on the other hand, displayed whatever belief existed that he was loggy with a vicious exhibition in his last workout. Stung by a blow that sent him across the ring, the champion closed into the hawks of the railbirds and punished his sparring partner unmercifully.

Coast Fans Boo Farren Fight Verdict

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15 (AP)—Amateur boxing stars of the country comprising a field which [illegible] semi-finalists started their [illegible] bombardment to determine champions of the Northern A. A. U.

More than 7,000 fans turned out for the final night's program.

In the opening three-rounder Bobby Rich, Kansas City Mo., was awarded the decision over Nick Trujillo, Denver flyweight. The verdict brought a storm of boos from the crowd, which evidently thought the little gamester from Kansas deserved the call.

MERCADO WINS

Sunshine Dave Mercado, tiny but tough from Honolulu scored a decision win in his flyweight match with John Forte Philadelphia Mercado landed at will, his opponent being unable to penetrate the former's unorthodox style or perfect defense against it.

Defending champion Billy Speary of Philadelphia continued his sweep through the bantamweight division with a decision over Earl Reid, Michigan City, Ind., in a semi-finals match.

ROCKS CHAMPION

The crowd responded with a round of boos to a decision given Billy Eddy of Flint, Mich., defending featherweight champion, over John Farren, South Boston, Mass.

Farren rocked the Michigan featherweight regularly with hefty rights while the latter piled up points with a two-handed, if light, attack meanwhile displaying superior boxing. The judges called it two to one for Eddy.

Moving up into the 175-pound division the last New England representative in the tourney, Patrick Devine of Cambridge, Mass., was knocked out by Jimmy Reeves of Cleveland, Ohio, in the first round.

Ambers' Manager FearsMellody

Al Weill, manager of [illegible]mer lightweight champion, Lou Ambers and featherweig king, Joey Archibald, was in Boston and admitted that [illegible]expected plenty of trouble from Honey Mellody of Chantown who is to be Ambers' foe in a ten-round tussle to [illegible]staged by the Goodwin A. [illegible]. at the Garden April 25.

HONEY MELLODY
To Meet Ex-champion

Weill in discussing the match said that he would have never let Ambers take the match but for the fact there was a possibility of the gate hitting about $15,000 after the large turnout that stormed the Garden to see the former champ against Paul Junior.

Weil said:

"Armstrong will have to fight Ambers when he comes back from England, and everybody knows it is a sucker move to go into a strange town against a local favorite who is a top-notch fighter.

"Lou is taking no chances of being upset. He asked for the postponement because he wanted to be in the best physical condition possible. He had to stop training when his brother-in-law passed away, and while he might have been able to make the original date, the kid refused to take any chances. And I don't think you would either."

Weill said that Ambers will be in Boston early next week and will work out for at least four or five days here.

PRO PIN FINALISTS IN ROLLOFF

The championship field of 20 follows; and their qualifying five strings scores follows: C. A. Bent, Belmont, 580; C. L. Tiger Crew Given Grant

PRINCETON, N. J., April 14 (AP)—Princeton University crews were granted permission by the university council on athletics to participate in the Poughkeepsie regatta, but conflicting year end examinations will not allow the Tigers to compete in the Hudson river classic this June.

The council's permission was qualified, however, to allow participation over an "experimental period" of three years contingent upon the ability of the Athletic Association to finance this extension of the rowing schedule."

Members of the Princeton varsity and freshman squads petitioned the graduate council on athletics for permission to row on the Hudson last January. Their petition was referred to a special committee on training policy.

Canadian Marathon Entry Considered Best in Years

BY WALTER KILEY

Spring's annual guessing game is now in the full flower of its revival. At this time every season, the so-called expert shuts his eyes, stabs his finger at the list of B. A. A. Marathon entries and then proceeds to disclose for the benefit of a palpitating public his choice of the Patriots' Day winner.

Failure to come home with the winner is never a deterrent to the experts, hardy souls that they are. No matter how often they're knocked down they pop up again with blooming freshness.

So this writer, as one of the Marathon experts, has stabbed his mystic finger at the entry list and makes known his infallible selection in tomorrow's Sunday Advertiser. If luck is with him the way it was when he picked Johnny Kelley to wear the laurel wreath back there in 1935, then, like a true expert, he'll stick out his chest and take all the bows.

HAZARD EVENT

The Unicorn run is perhaps sport's most difficult event to predict. There are too many uncertainties to it. Weather conditions and physical condition on the day of the race go a long way in deciding it.

In 43 years of B. A. A. Marathons, Clarence DeMar alone has been able to lead the pack three times. That he has accomplished the feat seven times, even to being first three years in a row, makes him the king of all long distance plodders.

There are a dozen runners in next Wednesday's race, any one of whom could be rated a favorite, and good reasons assigned for his selection.

And there are always a lot of good, strong Canadians, this year no exception.

The boys north of our borders are natural born marathoners.

The weather up home makes them hardy and minus the attractions which so soften up American runners, the Canadians go in a lot more for the ling seiges of practice and workouts without which a plodder can't hope to toughen himself for such a grind as that from Hopkinton to Boston.

TORONTO SENDS 7 RUNNERS

Of the Canadian crop, names of whom have been thus far released by Tom Kanaly, marathon director, is a group of seven runners from Toronto. Fred Mowbray, Milton Wallace and Jim Bagley of the Monarch A. C.; Dick Wilding, James Potter, Harry Winfield and Fred Bristow of the Gladstone Club.

Wilding has perhaps the best record of this group. He finished third twice, in 1933 and 1935.

Then there's Walter Young of Verdun, P. Q., winner in 1937; Gerard Cote of St. Hyacinthe, P. Q., a favorite a year ago, and one who will be well backed by many to come through this year; John Paul of the Kinsman Club of St. John, N. B., Indian champion of the provinces; and several others.

SOME FAVOR COTE

Of them all Cote looms the most dangerous. While he weakened in the home stretches of the Newton Hills last April, he showed the finest running form in the field, and came back strongly last fall to lose by a matter of yards to Pat Dengis of Baltimore in the National Marathon at Yonkers.

A lot of the wise ones will like Cote to come through next week, particularly after his impressive victory in the 20-mile North Medford road race a few weeks ago when he looked immense, running with ease and winning fresh.

Wildcat Lacrosse Teams Open Season

DURHAM, N. H., April 15—Lacrossemen of the University of New Hampshire face a team which has never defeated them today as the Wildcats open their 1939 schedule against Massachusetts Institute of Technology here.

But Coach Johnny DuRie will not be relying on past records when he sends his club onto the field. Cold and damp weather has kept workouts indoors until this week. On the other hand, the Engineers have had the benefit of two games, each against formidable squads — The Boston Lacrosse Club and Stevens Institute of Technology. Both were anyone's game until the final minutes, with M. I. T. losing by one point.

HAWK ZAMPARELLI ON SCRATCH LINE

Andrew "Hawk" Zamparelli, running under John C. Carr Club colors, will be at the scratch mark when the 51 entries line up for the annual 10-mile Reddish A. A. road race which will course through the streets of Jamaica Plain this afternoon.

Winner of the time prize in last week's Cathedral Club run, Zamparelli will be among the favorites to capture the mug formerly presented by the O'Connell Post, American Legion.

Last year, Zamparelli won the time prize in this event, turning in a mark of 52.15 for the distance, after one of the most thrilling runs in the history of the race.

First of the field are due to get underway at 2:30 at the Lowell school, J. P. The course is along Centre st., West Roxbury Parkway, Washington st., Cummings highway, Hyde Park ave. to Forest Hills, South st. to Centre st. to the finish back at the Lowell School.

White Sand Clocker Bill's Best Bet

By BILL SMITH

HAVRE DE GRACE opens its doors for the 1939 racing season today, and WHITE SAND, a clever winner at the Bowie meeting, gets top preference in the nightcap final.

White Sand drubbed Trina and Weekly Stipend in her long Maryland debut, and the veteran mare needs only to repeat that excellent performance to make it two straight.

Air Stream, a first-time starter is reported to be very fast and rates the nod in the initial stanza, a half-mile dash for two-year-olds.

El Chico will be tightened for the Kentucky Derby at Jamaica tomorrow afternoon in a dash of six furlongs. The outstanding youngster of 1938 easily stands out as the safest wager of the New York card.

Technician Goes Well on Heavy Track

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 15 (AP)—Despite a half-inch of rain that doused the mile track at Churchill Downs, Trainer Ben Jones sent Technician, one of the outstanding Kentucky Derby eligibles, twice around the oval.

Although the Herbert Woolf horse was not timed for the distance, Jones' face was in smiles as his ace "cooled off" in fine fashion.

Pirates Held To Two Hits

EVANSVILLE, Ind., April 15 (AP)—Pittsburgh's Pirates were held to two hits today by four hurlers of the Evansville Three-Eye League, but bunched them in one frame to win, 3 to 2.

Bill Brubaker, subbing at third base for Lee Handley, who was beaned by Johnny Allen in New Orleans, hit a home run after an error had placed Gus Suhr on the bases and Young singled.

Joe Bowman and Bill Swift yielded six hits but didn't permit any scoring except for home runs by Harry Kahre and Eddie Urban.

Jockey Quits; Toe Is Sore

EDMONTON, Alta., April 15 (Canadian Press)—Holding a three-lap lead, Bobby Bower, 45, abandoned a six-day endurance race with a horse because of a sore toe.

Bower, who toured the half-mile track 199 times since the race started Tuesday, stubbed his toe Wednesday. It became too tender for running today.

The horse, My Prince, completed 196 circuits.

BILL'S SPORT-O-GRIMES

The Bruins were in a happy mood when they detrained at the Huntington Avenue Station this morning . . . They had shaken off the Toronto play off jinx . . . At least, as far as winning two straight games is concerned.

It's tough to beat the Leafs two in a row here in Boston but it's a most miraculous achievement to pull off that stunt in Toronto . . .

CONNY SMYTHE

The Leafs didn't arrive until two hours after the Bruins . . . They were quartered at Hotel Vendome . . . Conny Smythe remained in Toronto . . . Accompanied by Bill MacBrien and Ed Bickle, Conny will leave the Queen City today . . . This Maple Leaf club hasn't fooled Smythe . . . He knows that it is below Toronto standard . . . In fact, it's the weakest club since his third year in the N. H. L. . . . Smythe places the blame for the Maple Leaf slump on the failure of "Chuck" Conacher and "Busher" Jackson to hold their top form . . . Just when he felt that he should have had two great key men, "Chuck" and "Busher" began to slip . . .

In Smythe's opinion, Eddie Shore is the Bruins . . . He says that Eddie has done a number of things that he didn't like but that he (Shore) is the best in the business . . . In analyzing the Rosamee, Smythe didn't miss Herbie Schmidt and Bill Cowley . . . "How can any club lose with Shore on the defense and two centers like Schmidt and Cowley?" asked Smythe . . .

The Toronto fans saw the handwriting on the wall early in the fourth game . . .

It was the quietest hockey gathering the writer has ever sat in with at the Maple Leaf Gardens . . . And, like all hockey crowds, it started to give the Leafs the "bird" when it was convinced that the Bruins couldn't lose . . . Dr. Charlie Stuart, the former Bruin's goalie, came up to Toronto from Hamilton for the Thursday game . . . He has put on some weight and looks to be in great condition . . . Lucien Garneau, who has operated the Springfield Indians for three years, was in the Queen City . . . He says that he's going back to Springfield . . . I heard differently . . .

The Bruins are positively all fed up on hockey . . . They talked baseball more than hockey on the way back from Toronto . . . They'll be out at National League Field today, watching the Bees-Red Sox game and "barbering" with Win Green . . . On the whole, the hockey in this series hasn't been of a Stanley Cup variety . . . Stories have been so scarce that some of the boys dug out that moth eaten tale about Art Ross retiring if the Bruins don't win the Stanley Cup . . . He and the Bruins should be fired if they don't against the 1938-39 Maple Leaf outfit . . .

COONEY WEILAND

Cooney Weiland and Bill Hollett have been great "killing off" penalties . . . "Bingo" Kampman came out of the fourth game with a bad leg . . . It's a wonder that he didn't lose it completely . . . The Bruins have done a great job on Syl Apps and Gordie Drillon in this series . . . They have worn Apps down to a walk and Drillon has seldom been able to shake off his check, especially Red Hamill, who has clung to him like a plaster . . .

Frankie Brimsek has 11 shut outs to his credit . . . And, believe me when I say that without Brimsek, the Bruins would have been home about two weeks ago . . . And, the Leafs and Rangers would be battling for the Stanley Cup.

'Bagged' Hockey Games Silly, Says Grimes

How Bruins Bear in on Turk Broda

By BILL GRIMES

To break the monotony of their long hockey grind, the Bruins and the Maple Leafs will journey out to National League Field this afternoon and watch the Bees and Red Sox in the intra-city baseball game.

The Bruins have engaged in 11 playoff games, and the Maple Leafs have played nine. So an afternoon out in the air (they'd appreciate a little sunshine) will benefit the players, both mentally and physically.

The Rosemen have a two game lead over the Smythemen. They hope to wind up their drive for the Stanley Cup tomorrow night at the Boston Garden. Hockey has developed into a grind. They've been at it for six months and each club has played more than 60 games.

Although anything can happen in hockey, particularly in a playoff or a Stanley Cup series, the Bruins should take over the world's championship title tomorrow night. Boston has the better club, for it has been the outstanding contention for the title all season.

The Bruins breezed in an easy winner of the National Hockey League title and then beat Rangers three straight before letting down to the extent of dropping the next three. Then, it was that the Bruins showed that they have what it takes to win a Stanley Cup by coming back and beating Rangers in overtime in the deciding game.

The Maple Leafs, due to a series of injuries, are down to one line, Gordie Drillon, Syl Apps and Bob Davidson. Stanley Cups are not won by one line challengers.

During the fourth game, Conny Smythe used two rookies, "Red" Heron and Don Metz. During the regular season and the playoffs the Maple Leafs lost three left wingers, Buz Boll, George Parsons and "Busher" Jackson. So, Heron, who had spent most of the winter with the Syracuse Stars, under Eddie Powers, was called in to fill "Busher" Jackson's berth, the latter having dislocated his left shoulder on Tuesday night. Heron gave a courageous exhibition, but he's not a "Busher" Jackson.

Don Metz tried out with the Maple Leafs last fall. He was injured during a practice game between the "Blues" and the Whites" and being unable to make up the ground he lost when sidelined, was turned over to Coach Joe Primeau, who handled the Goodyears, which club went to the Eastern Canadian finals of the Allan Cup series. When the Montreal Royals eliminated the "Tires," Conny Smythe signed Don Metz to a Maple Leaf contract.

Don is more aggressive than his older brother Nick, who is a veteran Leaf. And, he packs a hard right hand shot. But, it's a wide step from senior amateur to N. H. L. hockey. And, it's still a wider one from Allan to Stanley cup competition.

During my recent stay in Toronto, I overheard many "wise guys" remarking that the play off series are "bagged." I'd heard the same comments here before going to the Queen City.

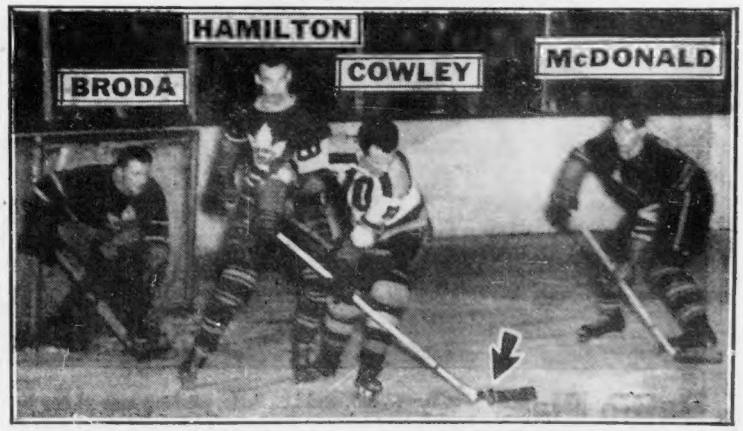
They know (?) that the National Hockey League is out to make a clean up. And, also that there'll be no appreciable difference, despite the new set-to, in the players' share over the "cuts" of previous play offs.

All comments along those lines are hokum.

I know that N. H. L. was pulling for the Bruins to take the Rangers in straight games after the Rosemen had won the first three. But, unfortunately, the Bruins were unable to sustain their drive and the series went three more games before the Rossmen were able to click.

After the first game in Toronto, an N. H. L. executive (I will not mention his name, but he's a power in the organization) told me that he believed that the Maple Leafs were through and that he hoped for the sake of hockey that the Bruins would take the next two games and the Stanley Cup. And, I'm fully convinced that this executive was not only sincere but that he was worried that the series might go seven games.

The Bruins arrived home early this morning. They are carrying a few bruises but nothing of a serious nature.



Cowley's Attempt Goal Smothered by Leafs

The attendance at this classic will easily be 500,000.

The Marathon is crowded with B. A. A. tradition. When the B. A. A. gave up its clubhouse on Exeter street and later secured moderate quarters at the Hotel Lenox, Des Wadsworth, Walter Brown, Henry Lapham and others with the interests of the B. A. A. strong within them decided that the Marathon classic should endure.

There is an expense of $800 in connection with the promotion of the Marathon, but this taken care of from the profit of the B. A. A. track meet in the Garden.

I am always amused when I read the entry blank for the B. A. A. Marathon and note that each runner is obliged to pay an entry fee of $1.

The B. A. A. Marathon and the opening of the baseball season mark the start of all outdoor sports events. Rowing, track, golf, tennis and college baseball will receive much consideration from now on.

Horse Racing Returns to New England

HORSE RACING will return to New England a week from today when Narragansett Park opens its spring meeting. Racing Secretary Bob Shelley announces he has received applications for 1400 stalls. This is proof that horsemen are anxious to return here for the long New England racing season that extends into November.

Suffolk Downs will open its 60 day meeting on May 16 after which Rockingham Park will step into the racing picture. In time the various tracks will curtail the number of racing days, but for the present they will conduct as long race meetings as possible.

There will also be some boxing and wrestling next week. Indoor sports will find the going tough for a while as the public is eager to get outdoors again. The touch of Spring is in the air. Here's hoping the weather man is considerate.

Dartmouth Adds Georgia to '40 Card

HANOVER, N. H., April 15 (AP)—Dartmouth's 1940 varsity football team will close its schedule against Georgia in New York on Nov. 23, the athletic council announces.

Georgia replaces Stanford on the Indians' gridiron list. Another change was booking five home games instead of the customary three or four.

Maxie Driven Indoors by Snow

FERNDALE, N. Y., April 15 (INS)—Max Baer, preparing to meet Lou Nova of California at the Yankee Stadium June 1, was kept indoors at the Hotel Grossinger by snow and rain. Arcil Hoffman, Baer's manager, said the program for Max's serious routine—commencing Monday—will be laid out tomorrow.
